

Prepare for The Fluctuating Stock and FX Markets in 2015

Sharing Technical Analysis of Financial Markets

On 31st January, 2015, BWC Financial Education held “Prepare for The Fluctuating Stock and FX Markets in 2015, Sharing Technical Analysis of Financial Markets” seminar together with OANDA and FTAA in Marco Polo Lingnan Tiandi, Foshan. The two topics for the seminar included “fundamentals of foreign exchange markets” and “introduction of financial technical analysis”. We invited guests from Guangzhou and Foshan, including staffs in various enterprises, experts in financial companies, bank clients and university professors to attend the seminar.

We invited Mr. Kelvin Zhao to become our first speaker, the Senior Manager in Greater China of OANDA. Mr Zhao has over 5 years in Forex trading experience and had managed clients with over USD6 billion monthly turnover amount. He also good at macro economy analysis, giving accurate advices to the customers, and with his strong background in finance and computer programming, he has developed several transaction models as well. OANDA has been awarded the “Best Research Tools” in 2014 by Singapore Investment Trends. Mr. Zhao analyzed the fundamentals of foreign exchange markets with an emphasis on academic knowledge. As Mr. Zhao shared the technical points with plain languages, his speech enabled the guests to know more about the operations in the foreign exchange markets and the relationship between different currencies’ moving trends.

The second part of the event, our speaker’s K.C. Chan who is the member of International Federation of Technical Analysts (IFTA), Mr. Chan shared the techniques for technical analysis with the guests based on his rich experiences. Moreover, he also introduced to the guests some technical analysis tools which are commonly used to analyze the market condition with data and charts.

After the lively seminar, guests stated that they hoped to have more time discussing with the speakers, and also expected that there could be more detailed explanation and demonstration of the difficulties encounters and experiences gained in practice.
